Frank and Ginny Wright retire from farm life

Huntingfields farm, the showplace 340-acre Thoroughbred establishment in Hampstead, Md., that Frank and Virginia (Ginny) Wright operated for more than 40 years, has been consigned to history.

The Wrights—he is 84, she is 78—sold the property and on December 1 moved to Brightwood retirement community in Lutherville.

“The decision was made on our own,” said Frank Wright. “We thought it was time, given our age.”

Breeders of numerous stakes winners, including stellar race mare and graded producer Blue Sky Princess, the Wrights have one child, daughter Liz Holman, who happens to be allergic to horses.

Carrying on Huntingfields was not an option for Holman, a former executive vice-president of Susquehanna Bank who is now retired and living in York, Pa.

Huntingfields was sold privately to Robert Tracey, who owns several farms in the area and plans to use the acreage for crops.

The Wrights' farm manager, Chuck Harris, whom Frank Wright described as “like a son” to them, will continue to live on the property with his wife, Jody, and four children, and will oversee the operation for the new owner.

Meanwhile, the Wrights intend to keep up an active involvement in racing and breeding.

They currently have eight horses with Bowie-based trainer Chris Grove. The most promising member of their racing string is Morumsco, a second-generation homebred 3-year-old Not For Love colt (out of Rich Legacy, by Polish Numbers) who has won or placed in three of his five starts.

Blue Sky Princess (by Conquistador Cielo), in foal to Bluegrass Cat, is one of four broodmares whom the Wrights have retained; all of them are boarded at Columbianna Farm in Paris, Ky., an establishment managed by former Huntingfields manager Homer Rader.

Four 2-year-olds and two yearlings are in various stages of training in South Carolina, with the goal of joining the Wrights' racing stable.

Frank Wright will also stay involved as a current member of the boards of the Maryland Horse Breeders Association and Maryland Million Ltd.

Wright retired many years ago from his career as owner of York Truck Rental Inc. and regional vice-president of Avis Truck Rental, and along with his wife devoted much of his time and attention to overseeing the breeding and racing operation.

Ironically, the couple celebrated their best racing success with Valay Maid, a filly born and raised at Huntingfields but not bred by the Wrights. From the first crop of Maryland sire Carnivalay, Valay Maid was born from a mare (Nancy's Scout, by West Coast Scout) owned by their then farm manager Joe Hamilton and his wife.

Valay Maid went through the ring as a weanling at the 1987 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic December Mixed sale, where the Wrights purchased her for $5,200. Ultimately she won seven stakes, including the Grade 2 Molly Pitcher and Cotillion Handicaps; among her six stakes placings was a third-place finish in the 1990 Breeders' Cup Distaff-G1, the year in which she was voted champion Maryland-bred 3-year-old filly. Her earnings totaled $641,442.

Homebred stakes winners included Trump Mahal ($405,495, Maryland Million Turf, etc.), Blue Sky Princess's son Inner Harbour ($350,936), who stood several seasons at stud in West Virginia while still owned by the Wrights; and Valay Maid's grandson Yankee Wildcat ($270,138), who won back-to-back runnings of the Mister Diz Stakes at ages 6 and 7.

"Horses have been, and still are, our passion," said Ginny Wright, who was raised on a working farm in Baltimore County, and once dreamed of a pristine life in suburbia. Crowned farm queen at the Maryland State Fair in 1948, she accepted the title reluctantly.

"I promised the good Lord that if I ever got off that farm, I never, ever wanted to live on another one," she recalled. Today, she looks back on Huntingfields as her great pride and joy.

Mid-Atlantic Nutrition Conference

The eighth annual Mid-Atlantic Nutrition Conference will be held March 24 and 25 at the Crowne Plaza-Baltimore in Timonium.

Local, national and international nutritionists will share research being conducted at universities, in industry and at government institutions. The equine session will include presentations on both days, with the schedule as follows:

Wednesday, March 24

"Equine metabolic syndrome and laminitis associated with carbohydrate nutrition," Dr. Ray Geor, Michigan State University.

"Divergent immune development in foals and implications for susceptibility to disease," Dr. David Horohov, University of Kentucky.

"Growing a structurally sound equine athlete," Dr. Randy Raub, Purina Feeds.

Thursday, March 25

"The latest information on feeding mares and foals and effects on skeletal development," Dr. Burt Staniar, Penn State University.

"Broodmare nutrition: conception, gestation and lactation," Dr. Tania Cubitt, Performance Horse Nutrition, LLC.

"Feeding and nutritional support of the sick horse," Dr. Iveta Becvarova, VA-MD Regional College of Veterinary Medicine.

"Feeding tips for the newborn foal: the healthy, the sick and the orphaned," Dr. Wendy Vaala, Intervet Pharmaceuticals.

"Drug-resistant parasites: a practical approach to a growing problem," Dr. Wendy Vaala, Intervet Pharmaceuticals.

"HYPP and its nutritional management," Dr. Tom Lenz.

"Herbicides in manure: how does it get there and why should I care?" Jeanine Davis, North Carolina State University.

Presentations are designed for veterinarians, trainers, breeders and owners. All attendees will receive conference proceedings, lunch and the opportunity to ask questions of all of the experts. While registration will be accepted at the door, those interested in attending are encouraged to submit their registration before March 15 to avoid late fees.

The conference is a regional event hosted by the Maryland Feed Industry Council, University of Maryland, Pennsylvania State University, University of Pennsylvania Veterinary School, University of Delaware, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Rutgers University, West Virginia University, American Feed Industry Association and United States Department of Agriculture.

Steele elected second vice-president of Maryland Farm Bureau

Jim Steele, a current director and former president of the Maryland Horse Breeders Association, has been elected second vice-president of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

A private, non-profit membership organization, the Maryland Farm Bureau, with a membership of approximately 33,000, advocates for the state's farming community in various capacities.

Steele, the longtime manager of the Rooney family's Shamrock Farm in Woodbine, said he will work to ensure that the horse industry continues to have a strong voice within the Farm Bureau.

Our Commander

Maryland Juvenile Championship Stakes

$50,000-guaranteed, 7½ fur., registered Maryland-bred 2-year-olds. Laurel Park, Dec. 12.

Ch.g., 2007, by Tenpins—Silver Tango, by Silver Badge. Bred and owned by Phillip L. Capuano; trained by Gary A. Capuano. Foaled at Summer Wind Farm, Libertytown, Md.

2009: 1st $50,000 Maryland Juvenile Championship S, 7½ fur., registered Md.-bred 2-year-olds, Laurel, Dec. 12.

Phil Capuano made one of the best race horse buys of all time when he purchased Silver Tango (a daughter of the now largely forgotten Maryland sire Silver Badge, by Poker) as a 2-year-old back in 1990.

In a private transaction with breeder Jeanne Begg, Capuano paid $3,800 for the filly, who went on to win 17 of 47 starts, including 10 stakes, for career earnings of $473,242.

Twenty years later, that investment is still paying dividends for the Capuano family.

Our Commander, the next-to-last foal from Silver Tango, delivered a breakout performance in the Maryland Juvenile Championship Stakes on December 12 at Laurel Park.

Sent off as third choice, at odds of 3.8-1, the homebred bobbled at the start and was reserved off the early pace set by favorite Petecarol in the seven and a half-furlong event.

A premature move to the front by Nick Petro, the rider of second choice Not Abroad, left the door open for a late challenge from Our Commander and jockey Josean Ramirez, who hooked Not Abroad in deep stretch and edged to the front to win with more authority than the margin of victory indicated.

Bill Backer homebreds Baileys Beach and First Nite, coupled as an entry for trainer Hamilton Smith, and well back early, finished third and fourth, respectively. Next, in order of finish, were Regal Warrior, Morumsco and Petecarol.

The race was completed in 1:31.78.

"The last three sixteenths I started asking him," said Ramirez. "I wasn't moving very much but then I kept riding and riding like it was going to be the last race ever and just won it. I've been working him every morning. I can see him improving a lot. He's a nice little horse."

Trained by Gary Capuano, a son of the owner, Our Commander (by Tenpins) was getting his third win in a row.

He broke his maiden in his fourth try and first appearance at Laurel, while racing for a $40,000 tag on September 25. After that, Our Commander returned to air by six and a half lengths in allowance company at Laurel on October 24.

Silver Tango has had eight foals to race, and seven of them are winners. She is the dam of additional stakes performers Dale's Prospect (2001, Pioneering; $344,664, Taking Risks S, etc.) and Scarlet Tango (1998, French Deputy; $99,493, 2nd Laura Gal S).

Capuano bred Silver Tango to a different stallion each time, choosing matings that appeared to be a good fit based on pedigree. Silver Tango's first foal was an Unbridled filly named Untangled who sold for $160,000 at the 1996 Keeneland July Yearling sale but never raced.

Her final foal, a 2-year-old colt by Love of Money named Bumpy Road, is being broken in Delaware in order to become Delaware Certified.

Silver Tango's 2009 foal was stillborn two weeks before her due date. The mare was subsequently pensioned at Jerry and Laurie Calhoun's Summer Wind Farm in Libertytown, Md.

Maryland Filly Championship Stakes

$50,000-guaranteed, 7½ fur., registered Maryland-bred 3-year-old fillies. Laurel Park, Jan. 1.

| Lifetime | | | | |

2009: 2nd Junior Champion S. 2010: 1st $50,000 Maryland Filly Championship S, 7½ fur., registered Md.-bred 3-year-old fillies, Laurel, Jan. 1.

Originally scheduled for December 19 (the last day on the 2009 Maryland racing calendar), the Maryland Juvenile Filly Championship Stakes was whited out by a blizzard that dropped as much as two feet of snow on the Baltimore-Washington corridor.

The race emerged under a new name—the Maryland Filly Championship Stakes—when racing resumed at Laurel Park on January 1. And it also had new conditions, because the entries were all turning 3 as of that date.

That's How I Roll, bred in partnership by David and JoAnn Hayden's Dark Hollow Farm and sold for $160,000 at the 2008 Keeneland September Yearling sale, blitzed her rivals in her first appearance in her home state.

Owned by Vision Racing LLC (a partnership operation headed by Brandon and Diannah Perry and John and Jill Stephens of Lexington, Ky.), That's How I Roll is trained in New York by Kieran McLaughlin.

Dispatched as third choice in the field of 10, That's How I Roll assumed an early lead in the Filly Championship and dominated the seven and a half-furlong contest, prevailing by three and a quarter lengths under Erick Rodriguez. Longshot Star Anna rallied for second, a neck to the good of Spoken in French.

The remaining order of finish consisted of Smart Tori, Tough Talkin Lady, Miss Speak, Popeye's Lady, Favored Lady, 5-2 favorite Molly Molly Molly and second choice Jim's Prospect.

Final time was 1:32.37 over a muddy (sealed) surface.

The Haydens and partners George Harris and Will DeBurgh purchased That's How I Roll's dam, Chatter Chatter (by Lost Soldier), for $320,000 at the 2005 Keeneland November sale. The mare was carrying her first foal, a Speightstown filly named Chattertown, at the time.

The partners quickly realized a return on the mare's offspring at auction. Chattertown sold for $105,000 at the 2007 Keeneland September Yearling sale, and was resold for $250,000 at the 2008 Ocala Breeders' Sales Company's March sale of 2-year-olds in training. She is stakes-placed, having finished second in last year's Dearly Precious Stakes, with career earnings of $79,882.

Chatter Chatter's second foal—That's How I Roll—was originally purchased by a Vision partnership; she went through the ring at the 2009 Fasig-Tipton Florida February 2-year-olds in training sale on a bid of $235,000, where she was transferred from one phase of the Vision enterprise to another.

Chatter Chatter delivered one more foal at the Haydens' Dark Hollow Farm in Upperco, Md.—a now 2-year-old Bluegrass Cat filly—before being sold for $160,000, in foal to Malibu Moon, at the 2008 Keeneland November sale.

The Bluegrass Cat filly, as yet unnamed, is in training with Jerry Hollendorfer in California, and is owned in partnership by Hollendorfer, the Haydens, Harris and DeBurgh.

That's How I Roll won her second start, in maiden special weight company at Belmont Park on July 1. McLaughlin wheeled her back in the Schuylerville Stakes-G3 at Saratoga on July 29, and she failed to measure up in the race won by Hot Dixie Chick. But in her next outing, on August 29, she finished second (to Kid Kate) in Monmouth Park's Junior Champion Stakes.

In seven career starts, she has earned $76,506.

MARYLAND-BRED STAKES WINNERS

Digger takes bite of Big Apple

Reple Stable's Digger led nearly every step and held off favored Pashito the Che in the closing strides to score by a nose in the $65,000 Gravesend Handicap on December 26 at Aqueduct.

Ridden by Anna Napravnik, the son of Yonaguska went to the front right after the break, setting fractions of :23.84 and :47.02 with Pashito the Che in close pursuit. Opening up by daylight as the field of seven headed for home, Digger began drifting out in deep stretch but had enough left to turn back the 3-5 favorite's late flurry, completing the six furlongs in 1:11.66 over an inner track rated fast.

"He's always in front, so the last part of the race is always a question mark," said trainer Bruce Brown. "He makes you sweat, no doubt about it. But he loves the inner track, even more so today with the moisture in it. I liked his chances."

Sent off at 3.10-1 as part of an entry with The Roundhouse, Digger returned $8.20 for a $2 win bet as he earned $41,730. The victory was his fourth in nine starts as a 5-year-old in 2009, and extended his lifetime record to 12-7-3 from 31 starts. His earnings now total $413,278.

"He's a pretty game horse," said Napravnik. "He's a good old warrior."

The victory was the first stakes win in New York for the Maryland-bred, who as a 3-year-old won the Deputed Testamony and Northern Dancer Stakes and Jennings Handicap at Laurel Park. Brown, who took over Digger's training in October, said he had no immediate plans for the gelding but said he intended on keeping him in New York for the winter.

Pashito the Che, whose three-race win streak came to a halt in the race, was a length ahead of Starforaday, who in turn was followed by Laysh Laysh Laysh, The Roundhouse, Gold Trippi and Joey P.

Digger was bred by Skeedattle Associates, a partnership of Marylanders Willie White, Lou Rehak and Bob Orndoff, who campaigned 2000 Maryland-bred Horse of the Year Gin Talking. He is the first foal from his dam, Da Choice (by Dehere), whom Skeedattle purchased for $70,000 at the 2001 Keeneland September Yearling sale. A half-sister to graded winner Millie's Quest, Da Choice was unraced.

Digger was claimed from Skeedattle while making his second career start, for a $25,000 maiden claiming tag, in November of his 2-year-old season at Laurel. Since July 2008, Digger has been claimed twice, most recently by his current owner for $50,000 on June 17, 2009, at Belmont Park.

The Maryland Horse Industry Foundation was chartered in 1988 by the Maryland
