Capital campaign launched to create Maryland Horse Library and Education Center

A $1 million capital campaign is officially underway for the Maryland Horse Foundation's Maryland Horse Library and Education Center, in the heart of historic Reisterstown within the Maryland Horse Breeders Association's building at 321 Main Street.

A culmination of ideas passed down from the MHBA's forefathers and board members who came after, the innovative facility will be a collaborative effort celebrating all aspects of Maryland's horse industry and its rich history. Along with housing and displaying the MHBA's historic reference library, the Maryland Horse Library and Education Center will provide opportunities and space for members of the industry to connect with, educate and inspire the public.

"It's long overdue that there's an appropriate place for people to look back on the past, so that we can look forward to the future," said Josh Pons, co-chair of the capital campaign and president of the MHF. "It'll be a real horse-community effort to pull this off, something that everybody can be proud of, and nobody should be taking credit for it. It's a long overdue idea that those ahead of us were just never in a position to implement or execute."

After nearly 90 years of moving locations around Baltimore County, the MHBA ended its search for a permanent home at the historic building in Reisterstown last June. Built in 1866, the 7,000 square-foot brick building adorned with stately white columns has been a church, bank, antique shop, real estate office, and now houses the offices for the MHBA, Maryland Million Ltd., Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred magazine and the MHF.

Outside of the expansive collection of books and reference materials, the horse-centric venue will include a memorabilia area, meeting space, interactive kiosks and rotating exhibits. A media room with updated technology will allow visitors to contribute to Maryland's rich history of horses by recording oral stories, scanning photographs and digitizing footage.

"It's an incredible resource that no other state really has. They have museums, but they're all focused on racing, or they have museums that focus on steeplechasing, but this one focuses on all aspects of the horse industry, which the whole state of Maryland is going to benefit from," said Richard Blue Jr., co-chair of the capital campaign and vice president of the MHBA.

The library and education center's interactive space and historic resources go hand-in-hand with the MHF's educational programs, which engage a wide audience of equine-inclined youth and young adults in an effort to recruit and encourage the next generation to carry on the legacy of Maryland's horse industry. But most importantly, the new facility stands as a physical resource, for anyone interested in learning more about horses in Maryland, to visit and explore.

The Maryland Horse Library and Education Center will bring it all together for the MHF and finally allow the MHBA's reference library, stored away for years, to be displayed and shared, as it was always intended to be.

Highlights of the reference library include the complete collections of the Bowie Library's Selima Room, The Jockey Club's Racing In America and the annual American Race Horses series published by Sagamore Press; Blood-Horse magazines dating to the early 1930s; Maryland Horse magazines dating to the first issue in 1936; The American Racing Manual dating to the mid-1920s; signed first editions of Dick Francis' mystery novels; Maryland Hunt Cup history books; a collection donated by Alfred G. Vanderbilt's family, including his personal journals and books; Daily Racing Form chart books dating to the early 1920s; and complete sets of American Stud Book and General Stud Book.

"It's a big project, but it's coming alive which is great and it's got a lot of enthusiasm, which is really great, and it will grow. It's infectious and the key to it is seeing it," said Goodall. "The problem over the years may have been that people couldn't see it, it wasn't concrete enough for them to get their heads around. But we're lucky, this is a really good outcome."

"Going back to the focus of the Foundation, it's education and getting more people interested in loving the horse industry. You need to have that opportunity. The further and further away people get from horses, the more you need to reinforce, so you have to help them find ways to be associated with horses and that's what I hope we do. We've proven there are ways to keep people in this business and keep people employed and doing what they love, and that's a big deal too, that's the foundation."

The goal of the capital campaign is to raise $1 million to update 3,500 square feet in the building, purchase furnishings, integrate current audio/visual technologies and support ongoing operational costs. Depending on the progress of the campaign, the committee hopes to start renovating the building by summer 2021.

As of early June 2021, support had been robust as $450,000 had already been committed.

About Us

Since 1929, the Maryland Horse Breeders Association (MHBA) has been the leading horse industry advocate within the state of Maryland.

The MHBA functions as an informational resource for horse breeders and owners, the media, community and governmental organizations, and the general public.

As a service organization, the MHBA provides industry information, educational opportunities and legislative representation to its nearly 500 breeder-owner members, which include Thoroughbred breeders, owners of race horses, steeplechase and hunt enthusiasts, and others with horse involvement.

The main purposes of the MHBA have always been to encourage, promote, protect and improve the horse breeding industry in Maryland. While emphasis traditionally has been placed on the production of Thoroughbred race horses, the MHBA encourages all sports relating to the use of horses.

Spreading the word: Promoting and supporting Maryland's horse industry

Since 1936, the Maryland Horse Breeders Association has utilized publications as a means of promoting the horse industry and encouraging horse breeding and participation in horse sports. The MHBA publishes Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred, a full-color monthly magazine that covers racing and breeding in Maryland and throughout the region and helps reinforce Maryland's image as the pre-eminent breeding state on the East Coast. In addition, the MHBA produces the digital publication Maryland Horse Weekly.

The MHBA maintains several websites: MarylandThoroughbred.com, MidAtlanticTB.com, MdThoroughbredHallofFame.com, MarylandMillion.com and MarylandHorse.com. MHBA maintains an active social media presence with our facebook page, MarylandThoroughbred, and twitter account, @MarylandTB.

What we do

The Maryland Fund was created by the General Assembly in 1962. Maryland was the first state to develop a legislated incentive program to encourage the improvement of Thoroughbred breeding and racing.

In Maryland, there are five categories through which monies for Maryland-breds are made available: 1) purse money for races for registered Maryland-breds; 2) awards for owners of registered Maryland-breds finishing first, second or third; 3) awards for breeders of registered Maryland-breds finishing first, second or third; 4) awards for stallions who sire registered Maryland-breds finishing first, second or third; and 5) bonus awards for the highest-earning 2 and 3-year-olds shown at the annual MHBA yearling show.

Currently, the Maryland Fund receives slightly less than 1 percent of the total mutuel handle and breakage from Laurel and Pimlico (the state's two major tracks), and receives approximately 1.5 percent of the mutuel handle and 5.0 percent of the breakage at Timonium (the state's only minor track).

Owner awards are paid by the purse account to the owners of all registered Maryland-breds when they finish first, second or third in any race other than stakes, paid at 30 percent of the horse's share of the purse. Percentage is determined by MTHA.

Breeder and stallion awards are paid for the registered Maryland-bred who finishes first, second or third in any race in Maryland. Breeder awards are 30 percent of a horse's share of the purse; stallion awards are 10 percent. In stakes races the award is based on the first $100,000 of the gross purse and pays 15 percent breeder, 5 percent stallion awards. Percentages are determined by the Maryland Racing Commission.

In order to earn a breeder award, the horse must be registered as a Maryland-bred. In order to earn a stallion award, the horse must be registered as a Maryland-bred, and the sire must be registered with the MHBA, in addition to having been standing in Maryland at the time the horse was conceived.

The Maryland Fund program is administered by the Maryland Racing Commission with the assistance and advice of the Maryland Fund Advisory Committee chaired by David Hayden, a member of the Maryland Racing Commission. Under the direction of the commission, the actual implementation of the fund, including maintaining the Maryland-bred registry and computing and distributing all bonus awards, is performed by the MHBA.

Breeder and stallion award percentages are evaluated on a bi-annual basis on the advice of the Maryland Fund Advisory Committee. Owner award percentages are determined by a separate agreement. (For Maryland Million day, breeder and stallion award percentages are determined annually.) Awards are paid as soon as practical.

The stakes program is planned on a meet by meet basis and is based on projected track handles for the coming year.

In calendar year 2020, the MBRF paid out more than $160,000 in stakes purses. In addition to the stakes program the MBRF breeder bonuses in 2020 were $3,358,082 and stallion bonuses were approximately $570,000. Owner bonuses, paid by the Maryland Thoroughbred Purse Account (MTPA), totaled nearly $3.1 million. More information on MBRF is available in the March 2021 Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred magazine, which is the 2020 Statistical Review issue, or on MarylandThoroughbred.com

The largest market for horses bred in Maryland is horse racing, an industry that is closely regulated by state government. In addition, while not well understood, horse breeding is an especially important segment of Maryland agriculture. The economic well-being of racing and breeding is very much a function of the political process. It is essential to the health of our industry that we educate our elected officials and support those who work with us on issues vital to our interests.

Maryland Thoroughbred Career Program

The Maryland Thoroughbred Career Program (MTCP) is an educational program launched in 2017 by the MHF.

The MTCP aims to:

- Increase awareness of the diverse career options in the Thoroughbred industry.
- Give participants access to leaders in all facets of the Maryland Thoroughbred industry.
- Highlight various paths for pursuing a career in the Thoroughbred industry.
- Address a critical need to attract and retain experienced employees.

Over the course of several days, participants are encouraged to fully engage in the Maryland Thoroughbred industry and explore a multitude of career options. Graduates of the MTCP are eligible to apply for Career Development Funds, one-time funding that can be used to further career pursuits within two years after their program ends.

Work Experience Program (WEP)

The WEP was launched in 2018 as a follow-up to the MTCP. Highly qualified candidates are given the opportunity to gain real-life work experience in a field of their choice that may otherwise be difficult to obtain. The MHF pays the wages of participants and also helps to cover housing expenses if necessary. The duration of externships can vary from two to eight weeks. This program is funded by a grant from the Thoroughbred Education Research Foundation.

Outreach

In addition to the MTCP and WEP, the MHF works with other groups to create outreach opportunities that will expose the general public to the Maryland horse industry and the programs that the MHF provides. The outreach focus for 2020 was the Maryland Horse Month (October) campaign.

Maryland Thoroughbred Hall of Fame

Established in 2013 by the Maryland Horse Breeders Association (MHBA) and the Maryland Racing Media Association (MRMA), our Maryland Thoroughbred Hall of Fame illuminates the accomplishments of Maryland-bred Thoroughbreds.

A committee consisting of journalists, breeders, owners and racing industry officials, representing a broad cross-section of the Maryland racing and breeding industry, determined to enshrine 12 Maryland-bred horses for the inaugural class of 2013, and as many as two Thoroughbreds have been inducted each subsequent year by selection committee vote.

Though the MHBA has honored Maryland-bred champions annually, induction into this Hall of Fame is a distinct honor for important Maryland-bred horses. The MTHOF serves as a repository of information about those horses that have brought positive attention to the heritage and industry in Maryland.

Since its inception, the Maryland Thoroughbred Hall of Fame inductions have been ceremonial in nature and commemorated virtually until the MHBA is able to establish a permanent facility in which to enshrine inductees.

A celebration of the inaugural class was held at Pimlico on May 11, 2013. Those in the first class were Broad Brush, Challedon, Cigar, Find, Gallorette, Jameela, Politely, Safely Kept, Twixt and Vertex and steeplechasers Elkridge and Jay Trump.

There have been two inductees each year since: 2014—Concern and Tuscalee; 2015—Awad and Little Bold John; 2016—Dave's Friend and Kauai King; 2017—Deputed Testimony and Good Night Shirt; 2018—Caesar's Wish and El Gran Senor; 2019—Social Outcast and Youth; 2020—Heavenly Cause and What a Summer.

Records, photos and background on all the inductees are found on MdThoroughbredHallofFame.com.

Executive Director's Report

Twenty-twenty was the year of Covid-19, consequently it was a year of change and uncertainty. The most unusual year in memory for most of us. But the horse industry survived and thrived in most cases. Live racing resumed in the spring and bettors were looking for a distraction. The breeding season continued on pace, with many mares staying close to home.

For the Maryland Horse Breeders Association (MHBA) it was also the year of change yet one of certainty. After many years of searching 2020 was the year that culminated in a permanent home. The MHBA purchased a building in Historic Reisterstown in Baltimore County in April and moved the offices in June. The location is near renowned Sagamore Farm and the illustrious Maryland Hunt Cup Course and not far from historic Pimlico Racecourse. This move began the journey to have a place to house the existing reference library and the quest to develop an education center component.

This new project brings MHBA full circle back to the roots and the vision of an organization that was formed in 1929. The men who decided that it was important to have a formal organization with the mission "to promote, enhance and encourage the breeding, raising and racing of horses in Maryland" were forward thinkers and understood the importance of horses to Maryland. All you have to do is look back to see their guidance and direction, our Maryland Horse magazines confirm their commitment and dedication to horse sports and the importance of Maryland land being devoted to horses.

That brings us to today and the lesson is you must look back to see the way forward. Especially in the year of Covid, it is history that has helped us to understand that we can survive a pandemic and an adapting Thoroughbred industry. You can see it has happened before, and we have learned from it and moved on.

The MHBA has learned lessons from many challenges over 90 years and will continue to do so, but the most important is the need to educate. This mission has become the most important tenet of the Maryland Horse Foundation (MHF). Established in 1988 as a 501(c)(3) charitable entity, MHF has focused on education since 2017 with the Maryland Thoroughbred Career Program (MCTP). And with the new home for our library and education center there will be many more opportunities to educate people, both young and old.

The MHBA will continue to do all that we have done for many years including advocating and engaging with the public and the diverse group of political representatives that we have in Maryland. Also incentivizing those who breed and race in Maryland. The Maryland Bred Race Fund (MBRF) was launched in 1962 as the first state-bred incentive fund. Now every state with an active breeding industry has incentives, so those efforts have become competitive in this region. The MHBA serves as the registrar of Maryland-bred horses and administers the MBRF at the direction of the Maryland Racing Commission. Our award-winning magazine, Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred, is widely recognized as an industry resource. The Maryland Horse Weekly is our email news and reminder resource. And most importantly, branding all that we do as Maryland Horse with our Maryland flag horse logo. With over 100,000 flag horse stickers distributed to date this has been very successful effort that has positioned MHBA well for our future endeavors.

Our brand Maryland Horse continues the tradition that was inaugurated as the Maryland Horse magazine in 1936. That publication covered all aspects of horses and horse sports in Maryland. As MHBA moves forward with the plans for the Maryland Horse Library and Education Center we will honor our history while shaping the future of the horse industry in Maryland.

It takes a community to do what we do every day so it important to thank our Board members, MHBA members and staff members for their dedication to our mission.

Financial Report

The Maryland Horse Breeders Association (MHBA) finished 2020/2021 fiscal year financially healthy.

In 2020 MHBA revenues and investment income increased due to strong wagering on racing and VLT's and a healthy market. MHBA invested in the building so now has a valuable asset on the balance sheet. During this Covid year many events, meetings and public outreach were held virtually as everyone learned a new way to communicate.

After all expenses the Association has a tentative net income of $234,000 for 2020/2021. Total assets are projected to be $2,940,000 while liabilities are $995,000.

Maryland Horse Breeders Association continues to administer the Maryland Bred Race Fund at the direction of the Maryland Racing Commission, to publish the nationally recognized Mid-Atlantic Thoroughbred magazine and works to promote and encourage breeding, raising and racing horses in Maryland.
