English Minister delivers stakes win on Pride Day

By Joe Clancy

English Minister captured the Find Stakes on Maryland Pride Day by a neck.

Trainer Mike Trombetta took a visitor on a Saratoga stable tour in August, and included English Minister even though the 9-year-old wasn't even there.

"I'm going to run him in the Find next week," Trombetta said, after stopping at the stalls of Saratoga maiden winner Frosted Rose and graded stakes winners Wet Your Whistle and Global Access among others. "I talked to the owners and suggested that he retire at the end of this season. I'm going to protect him and give him a good retirement. I was going to bring him up here for 50 [a $50,000 claiming race] but they would take him, so I didn't do it. That's the only reason he's not here, he loves this track."

He's pretty fond of the one at Laurel Park, too, and that retirement talk may wait a bit because English Minister did indeed start in the Find Stakes back home in Maryland and won by a neck for Trombetta, owner/breeder Fitzhugh LLC and jockey Julian Pimentel.

Part of Maryland Pride Day Aug. 17, the Find was English Minister's fourth win from five starts this year—a rebirth of a career that began in the barn of the late trainer Dickie Small in 2012. The son of English Channel lost all nine starts in 2018 and was also blanked in 11 tries in 2016 and went 0-for-9 in 2013, all while hammering out seconds and thirds to earn solid returns for his connections. Through Sept. 10, he'd run 54 times with eight wins, nine seconds, 13 thirds and \$550,942. The Find, at 1 $\frac{1}{16}$ miles on the turf, was his first stakes win.

"He was having a hard time winning, he was grinding out enough money to pay his bills but he wasn't getting the wins," said Trombetta. "Some of it was because I was trying to protect him because everybody is so fond of him. This year, I took a little different path, he's been really fresh, really good. For a 9-year-old, he's a really happy horse."

Jim McCue

My Sistersledge was trainer Mike Trombetta's first of two stakes wins on Maryland Pride Day when she won the All Brandy.

Successful turf runner Introduced notched her second dirt victory, and first stakes win, by taking the Miss Disco.

Where Paradise Lay became the second winner and first stakes winner for his dam, Sagamore champion Walkwithapurpose.

After his usual winter break, English Minister finished fourth at Laurel in April, then won twice on the synthetic track at Presque Isle Downs in May and June. One start before the Find, he defeated Grade 1 winner and millionaire Force the Pass in an allowance at Laurel Aug. 4.

The Find, one of four $75,000 stakes restricted to Maryland-bred or -sired runners on the card, lured six runners including 2017 Maryland-bred Horse of the Year Just Howard and three-time stakes winner O Dionysus. Taxable Goods took a clear early lead, followed by Just Howard, Belfour and English Minister as O Dionysus tried to overcome an early stumble. After early fractions of :24.56 and :49.01, Taxable Goods proved to be stubborn in the stretch as English Minister came off the rail at the three-sixteenths pole and rallied outside. O Dionysus settled for third, with Just Howard fourth after 1:40.85.

English Minister had placed in three other stakes (including a second in the 2016 Find). The chestnut gelding's dam Groovy Minister won just once in 10 starts for Fitzhugh's Robert Meyerhoff, but the daughter of Deputy Minister's foals include eight winners.

With a four-race winning streak, English Minister was on target for at least one more start this year before his usual break at the farm and—maybe—that retirement. Either way, English Minister will embrace it.

"We turn him out every day, first thing, at Fair Hill," said Trombetta. "And as soon as his last day of racing or training at the end of the year, I'm not sure he even goes in the barn, he goes straight outside (at the Meyerhoffs' farm). You don't have to let him down, you don't have to worry about him running into a fence, it's the way you should treat a horse. They're old-fashioned, when you say turn out a horse, they're turned out."

The Find win completed a double for Trombetta and Pimentel as My Sistersledge prevailed by a half-length in the All Brandy Stakes for older fillies and mares at 1 $\frac{1}{16}$ miles on the turf. The even-money favorite was three wide throughout behind a tepid pace set by Ghouls Night Out before rallying past that rival and Sunrisebernsteini to win by a neck for owners/breeders John and Cheri Banner.

The daughter of Etched and the Miesque's Son mare Blushing Pride won for the eighth time in 24 starts and improved to 6-for-10 over the Laurel turf. The two-time Maryland Million Ladies winner is one of six winners for her dam, including full-brother My Brothersledge. Blushing Bride produced a Mosler filly for the Banners in March and was bred to Karakontie (Jpn).

- Heavy favorite Introduced notched her first stakes win in the 6-furlong Miss Disco for 3-year-old fillies. A successful runner on the turf, she won for the second time in as many starts on dirt.

Third in Laurel's Stormy Blues on the turf in July, the Colts Neck Stables' filly trained by Jorge Duarte Jr. edged clear under Pimentel to win by a half-length over Bunting, who set fractions of :22.72, :45.55 and :57.44. The final time was 1:10.14.

Introduced made her debut at Saratoga in August last year and finished second to Concrete Rose, who went on to win four graded stakes including the Grade 1 Belmont Oaks Invitational Stakes in July.

Next out, Introduced won an off-the-turf maiden at Laurel in September before finishing second by a nose in the Stewart Manor Stakes at Aqueduct to cap her juvenile campaign.

Bred by Richard Golden's Sycamore Hall Thoroughbreds, Introduced is by the late Northview PA stallion El Padrino out of the winning Cherokee Run mare Stuttgart. Consigned by Northview Stallion Station to the 2017 Fasig-Tipton Midlantic fall yearling sale, the chestnut filly was purchased for $30,000 by Sarah Sharp. The following March at the Ocala Breeders' Sale Company's 2-year-old sale she sold for $310,000 to agent Charlie Boden. She improved to 3-3-1 in eight starts, with earnings of $152,759.

Introduced's second dam is graded stakes-winning turf mare Who Did It and Run, represented earlier on the Maryland Pride Day card when Stuttgart's 2-year-old half-sister Stickingtogether recorded her first win. Other Stuttgart half-siblings include Maryland-bred champion Giant Run, stakes winner and stakes producer American Victory, and graded stakes-placed Who's Cozy, dam of stakes winner Who's in Town and stakes-placed Campaign Vows. The family also includes graded stakes-winning $643,203-earner Hangover Kid, one of Maryland's top freshman sires this year with his first runner now a stakes performer.

Stuttgart has three foals by Golden Lad since producing Introduced—a 2-year-old colt named Sir Back in Black who has yet to start; a yearling filly and a 2019 colt born in April. She was bred back to Made-fromlucky.

- Sagamore Farm's homebred Where Paradise Lay laid it down in the Star de Naskra, holding off Tappin Cat to score in his stakes debut.

Breaking clean and settling in third, the son of Into Mischief trailed dueling longshots Sky Magician and Great Herman through an opening quarter of :22.85. As the early leaders backed out, Feargal Lynch sent Where Paradise Lay to battle with Distant Shore, dispatched that rival and held off the others to win by a half-length. In the 6-furlong stakes for 3-year-olds, Where Paradise Lay finished in 1:10.69.

Where Paradise Lay is the second winner, and first stakes winner, out of Sagamore's homebred stakes winner Walkwithapurpose, Maryland-bred champion 3-year-old filly of 2013.

"Our team works so hard every day," Sagamore chief of staff Jocelyn Brooks said, "and to have not just a homebred but a second-generation homebred follow in his mom's footsteps and win big here at Laurel, on Maryland Pride Day, probably a team that has as much pride as anybody in Maryland coming right from our owner. We're so proud of him and of our entire team and Stan Hough and the job he did getting him ready. It's just a huge day for us."

Unraced at 2, Where Paradise Lay finished third in his debut at Gulfstream Park in February, and got his first win in his fourth start at Churchill Downs in May. Never worse than fourth in his seven starts, he now has $107,940 in earnings.

Walkwithapurpose produced a Maryland-bred filly by Uncle Mo in 2017; her last two foals were born in Kentucky. The Candy Ride (Arg) mare's American Pharoah current yearling sold for $575,000 on the first day of the Keeneland September sale.

NOTES: In addition to the four stakes, the 12-race card included five races with a Maryland restriction or preference. Ten winners were bred in Maryland, with six Maryland sired . . . Pimentel won four on the day, including three consecutive stakes. 🐾

MHBA opens its doors

By Cindy Deubler

Clearbrook (25) 2-2100. If you called that number in 1959, you reached the new offices of the Maryland Horse Breeders Association, which had relocated to 2223 York Road, occupying a room on the first floor of a brick building directly east of the Timonium Fairgrounds.

The office has moved a few times since, but the number remains the same (except for the area code).

The MHBA didn't have its first official office space until Maryland Horse editor Humphrey S. Finney took on full-time duties as field secretary in 1937. "It's been fun watching the development of Maryland Horse Breeders' offices," wrote the ever-droll Maryland Horse editor Raleigh Burroughs in March 1959. "The first one was Humphrey Finney's brief case."

Finney set up an actual location for the Maryland Horse Breeders office "in the front second-floor bedroom of our rented house at 504 Highland Avenue in Towson," noted John Finney in a letter to the Maryland Horse in 1981. Burroughs noted: "The front door always was open. Visitors rang and walked in, hollered to warn the family, waited for the 'Come on up,' bellow of the lord of the manor, and then went up, usually tripping over a cocker spaniel or a small Finney on the way."

One Dixie Drive, the second official home of the MHBA, is less than 2 miles from the current offices in Towson.

Within a few months, Humphrey Finney noted that "More and more horsemen are taking to dropping in to have a chat with us in our Towson offices and possibly to look up some matter of a pedigree or some detail of a horse's performance."

"For the convenience of the horsemen we have a complete file of current horse periodicals covering both the light and heavy breeds. We also have a fairly rounded library of horse books which are at the service of our visitors at no charge."

While Finney was on a leave from his duties as MHBA field secretary and Maryland Horse editor during his war effort with the Coast Guard in the early 1940s, business manager Stewart Sears ran the office. Upon Finney's return, he moved the family to One Dixie Drive in Towson in July 1943, and the office went along, set up in "the basement clubroom," noted John Finney.

Burroughs saw the move to the "cellar" a little differently: "The subterranean cell that served as the Association's headquarters was all right if you took along your own oxygen. When a couple of earnest smokers got going down there, the atmosphere could be sliced, packaged and sold for building material.

"Denizens of the pit looked like Welsh miners coming to the outside world as the end of the day. They blinked and looked surprised like they had forgotten about the sun."

And he noted negotiating the tight space: "... there were more cocker spaniels and larger Finneys."

Upon Finney's leaving in early 1953, Burroughs took over as editor and relocated the MHBA to a small office to 614 York Road in Towson. The location had its advantages, Burroughs distinctly recalled: [it] was convenient to stores and post office, and within walking distance of three bars. It was small, but it served the purpose."

The staff remained small, primarily Sears handling the business duties and Burroughs the magazine, when the office moved to York Road in 1959 to "sumptuous new rooms," noted the editor.

Snowden Carter took over the editor role in 1962, and described his first days in the space: "We worked out of one room on York Road directly across from the Timonium Fairgrounds. [Office secretary] Louise [Pascal] greeted visitors from her desk, which faced the office's only door. My desk was off to the right, fortunately less visible."

At the start of 1962 the MHBA lost Sears, the association's business manager since 1939, to cancer. A few months later, needing a new secretary/office manager upon the departure of Pascal, Carter hired Sears' widow Violet, and later added Charles Heise as the MHBA bookkeeper.

With the industry growing in the decade following the passage of the Maryland Fund bill in 1962, the office moved to larger quarters in the new Padonia Building at 201 West Padonia Road in Timonium, in the summer of 1973. For the first time, the MHBA headquarters occupied more than one room. And the staff grew. Mary Thomas took over as office manager after the retirement of Sears in 1975; when Carter retired in 1986, Thomas became general manager.

The Padonia Building was home to the MHBA until December 1991, when MHBA Executive Vice-President Rich Wilcke and more than a dozen office staff, including those with Maryland Million and the magazine, moved across York Road to the third floor of the office building at 30 East Padonia Road in Timonium. Twenty-five years later, with a slightly smaller staff, the decision was made to set up a temporary office on the campus of Goucher College, home to one of the nation's premier college equestrian programs, with plans to expand.

The MHBA continues to welcome horsemen to drop in to the office for a chat, and use the MHBA's vast resources. 🐾

Sixteen earn industry scholarships

The Maryland Thoroughbred Industry Scholarship Fund committee selected 16 scholarship recipients for 2019, highlighted by the Lucy Acton Memorial Scholarship and the Eddie McMullen Memorial Scholarship.

The Maryland Thoroughbred Industry Scholarship Fund was founded more than 30 years ago, and managed until recently, by the Maryland Racing Media Association. Now a joint venture with MRMA, the Maryland Thoroughbred Horsemen's Association, the Maryland Horse Breeders Association and the Maryland Jockey Club, the program assists students who are active in the Maryland Thoroughbred industry.

To be eligible, applicants had to be enrolled at a college or university for the upcoming fall semester and had to have worked in state's Thoroughbred industry.

This year's recipients are:

Jim McCue

Scholarship recipients were on hand at the Aug. 17 presentation at Laurel Park, along with representatives from the sponsoring associations.

- Meghan Delp, a student at the University of Illinois and employee of Yergey, Stewart, Vallance & Associates, receiving the Lucy Acton Memorial Scholarship.
- Anthony Rosenthal, a student at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County and employee of No Guts No Glory Stable, receiving the Eddie McMullen Memorial Scholarship.
- Stephanie Beck, a student at Towson University and employee of Oakwoods East Farm, Hollywood House.
- Dante Brown, a student at Towson University and employee of Cal Lynch.
- Teneisha Brown, a student at Bowie State University and employee of Chuckie, Inc., Donovan Haughton.
- Keriesha Brown, a student at Bowie State University and employee of Chuckie, Inc., Donovan Haughton.
- Megan Calibey, a student at Midway University and employee of Alcina Rawles.
- Rebecca Feliciano, a student at Vermont Law School and employee of Ben Feliciano Jr.
- Emily Fewster, a student at Goucher College and employee of Alexandra White.
- Cassidy Hageman, a student at Frederick Community College and employee of Team Gaudet.
- Ryan Keefe, a student at the University of Kentucky and employee of Tim Keefe.
- Elizabeth Moorman, a student at the University of Maryland and employee of Country Life Farm.
- Antoinette Orellana, a student at Howard Community College and employee of Carlos Mancilla.

- Erin Swope, a student at Towson University and employee of Mary Eppler.
- Kandace Tignor, a student at the University of Findlay and employee of Trombetta Racing Stable.

The MTISF evaluation committee included representatives from the partnership groups. They reviewed scholarship applications and made selections based on the application completion, employment in the industry and educational standing. 🐾

State Fair Hunter Breeding Show

Regina Welsh's 2-year-old gelding Natty Bird, by National Anthem (GB) out of Won Wild Bird, was pinned Grand Champion Thoroughbred and Best Maryland-bred at this year's Maryland State Fair Hunter Breed Show. Cricket Goodall made the presentation for the MHBA-sponsored awards, along with a Sara Van Ryswik from the 2019 Miss Maryland Agriculture court.

IN MEMORIAM

Louise Este Hollyday

Louise Este Hollyday, a lifelong teacher and inspiration for generations of young riders and horsemen in Maryland and England, died this past spring at 92.

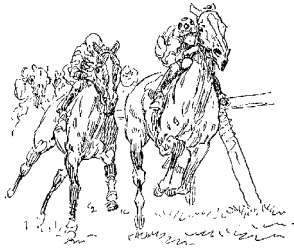

Louise had a passion for raising Welsh ponies and horses, including her well-known horse Doctur, and was recognized for her love and dedication to the horse industry. Born in Baltimore, the daughter of Guy Tilghman Orme Hollyday and Louise Este (Fisher) Hollyday, she began teaching young horseback riders when she was still a student herself. She taught her first lesson in 1946 and continued for 64 years, retiring in 2010.

In addition to teaching, she also worked in many other aspects of Maryland's horse industry, including with veterinarians at Maryland tracks, as an exercise rider at Pimlico, and breaking horses on an Arabian farm.

Founder of Ponies for Children, which taught how to care for the animals, Hollyday was also a member of the Welsh Pony and Cob Society of America and was a founder of the Maryland Pony Breeder's Association of America. In 2005, she was named Maryland Horse Person of the Year by the Maryland Horse Council.

She is survived by her brother Guy Tilghman Hollyday and his wife Pamela Fleming; nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her two siblings Virginia "Dee Dee" Hollyday Levering and Este "Pat" Fisher Hollyday. Memorial contributions may be made in Louise's memory to The Retreat at Beckleysville, 4224 Beckleysville Rd., Hampstead, MD 21074. 🐾
